

Aaron Friedman has over 8 years in the wireless industry and is fully knowledgeable about Telecom and Tech. In his current role Aaron is the Vice President of 5th Gen Media, a print and digital publication about connectivity and technology as it relates to Real Estate. Aaron has a background as an operations specialist and brings that knowledge to the telecom field and to his new role on the NYSWA board. Prior to joining the telecom field Aaron served as a first responder in Fire and EMS roles, with responsibilities including all back-office administration as well as field operations. Aaron brings his operations, sales and marketing approaches to all aspects of business development and management.